

CV paragraph

Professor Mike Mannin is Jean Monnet Chair in European Studies (ad personam) at the University of Portsmouth and was Director of its Jean Monnet Centre for the Study of Transnational Europe (CESTE) from 2013-2016. He has published widely in the field of European politics, including articles on Italian, French and British politics as well as the politics and government of the European Union with particular reference to regional funding and political economy. More recently he has published in the field of Europeanisation as both a concept and application. His books, relevant to this proposal include: Pushing Back the Boundaries: the European Union and Central and Eastern Europe (1999 MUP); British Government and Politics: Balancing Europeanisation and Independence (2010 Rowman Littlefield); and The Europeanisation of European Politics (2013 Palgrave, with Charlotte Bretherton eds). His CESTE activities included a research project (with Dr. P. Flenley) that has led to his most recent publication the European Union and its Eastern Neighbourhood (2018 MUP). He is an active member of the European Movement, contributing to and analysing the debates and process of Brexit negotiation.